Südzucker Polska S.A. chooses GEODIS as strategic warehousing partner in Poland

Südzucker Polska S.A., part of Südzucker A.G., Europe's largest sugar producer, has selected GEODIS as its trusted logistics partner to support its warehousing operations in Poland. This new collaboration reflects both companies' commitment to operational excellence, agility, and customer satisfaction in the European food sector.

With a rapidly approaching launch deadline, GEODIS in Poland mobilized its expertise to deliver a seamless implementation. With just a month from contract signing to go-live, GEODIS secured a 5,500-square-meter warehouse tailored to Südzucker Polska's requirements, successfully passed a food grade sanitary audit and prepared all HACCP-compliant documentation.

GEODIS also deployed advanced systems including enhanced security measures and warehouse equipment, such as humidity & temperature measurement devices, all while completing comprehensive staff training and health checks.

"This transformation allows us to build a supply chain discipline that not only ensures compliance with the highest food safety standards, but also enhances order reliability and responsiveness for our client," said Bogdan Młynarczyk, Managing Director at GEODIS in Poland. "Through this new warehouse in Poland, Südzucker Polska will now have access to high quality services and improved inventory management - key drivers that support their ambitions and deliver value to customers across Poland & Europe."

By this centralized warehouse in Poland, Südzucker Polska is able to streamline logistics, and ensure consistent, high-quality service to customers throughout the region. This partnership underscores GEODIS's ability to deliver tailored, high-quality logistics solutions for the food industry, supporting its clients' ambitions across Europe and beyond.
